CONDITIONS OF SALE.

1. The highest bidder to be the buyer; and, if any dispute arise, between two or more bidders, the Lot so in dispute shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

2. The purchasers to give their names and addresses, and to pay down twenty-five per cent. on the dollar in part payment, or the whole of the purchase-money, if required; in default of which the Lot or Lots so purchased to be immediately put up again and re-sold.

3. The Lots to be taken away at the buyer's expense and risk within twenty-four hours from the conclusion of the sale, and the remainder of the purchase-money to be absolutely paid, or otherwise settled for to the satisfaction of the vendors, on or before delivery; in default of which Messrs. GEO. A. LEAVITT & Co. will not hold themselves responsible, if the Lots be lost, stolen, damaged, or destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the Purchaser.

4. The sale of any book, painting, engraving, or any other article, is not to be set aside on account of any error in the description. All articles are exposed for public exhibition one or more days, and are sold just as they are without recourse. All books are presumed to be perfect unless otherwise expressed, and are collated as far as practicable when catalogued; but the sale of any book or books cannot be invalidated on account of any stained, foxed, torn, mended, facsimile, written on, stamped, or short leaves of text, plates, maps, or diagrams, or on account of the publication of any subsequent volume, supplement, appendix, or plates. All manuscripts and autographs, all magazines and reviews, all books in lots, and all pamphlets in lots or volumes, all single volumes or sets, will be sold with all their faults, imperfections and errors of description. The sale of any illustrated book is not to be set aside on account of any error in the enumeration of the number of volumes or pieces, or other errors of description.

5. To prevent inaccuracy in delivery and inconvenience in the settlement of the purchases, no lot can, on any account, be removed during the sale.

6. Upon failure of complying with the above conditions, the money deposited in part payment shall be forfeited; all Lots uncleared within the time aforesaid shall be re-sold by public or private sale, and the deficiency (if any) attending such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulter at this sale, together with all charges attending the same. This condition is without prejudice to the right of the Auctioneers to enforce the contract made at this sale, without such re-sale, if they think fit.

A fine copy of this EXCESSIVELY RARE book—a complete directory of Baptist order and practice. It is not named in the Am. Antiq. Society's Catalogue of Ante-Revolutionary Publications, and its title has escaped Mr. Sabin. Dr. Sprague (Baptist Annals, p. 84,) mentions it, among the publications of Morgan Edwards but, probably, had not seen it. Mr. Brinley's copy has, on the title-page, the autograph of (the Rev. Dr.) "J. Jenkins. The gift of y^e^ Supposed Author, the Rev^d^ Morgan Edwards of Philadelphia, 1768."

The directory, with scripture proofs and historical narratives, of the rites of washing feet, the love feast, and anointing the sick, are of special interest to Baptist ecclesiologists. The musical notes, as well as the words, of the hymns appropriate to these rites, to the gathering of a church, ordination of officers, marriages, funerals, etc. are given in connection with the historical narratives.

By the first Presbytery of the Eastward, pp. 560, vii, (4), sound clean copy, sheep, VERY SCARCE. 16° Boston, N. Coverly, 1783

The reputed author of this volume, and the most prominent member of "the Presbytery of the Eastward," was the Rev. John Murray, a native of Ireland, who was, for a short time, pastor of the 2d Presb. Church in Philadelphia, and subsequently removed to Boothbay, Me., where this Presbytery was formed. In 1781, he became the successor of the Rev. Jona. Parsons, at Newburyport, Mass., where he died in 1793. Concerning his earlier and later troubles, see Sprague's Presb. Annals, I. 50, note.

A committee of the Presbytery was appointed to draw up a "testimony against errors," this first part of which was formally approved by them, as certified (Windham, May 21, 1783,) by Simon Williams, Clerk.

The Introduction gives "an impartial survey of the present times." Attention is directed to "the enormities of extravagance and sensuality.. The vanity of fickle and whimsical fashions, the monstrous deformities of dress, the luxury of the table and equipage, the fondness for ill-timed diversions, for frolics, balls, and gaming-tables," etc.

"In the year 1807, Richard McNemar, formerly a man of eminence in the Revival, in union with the Society, published a work entitled 'The Kentucky Revival.' It embraces, with a plenary account of this revival, a partial exposition of the tenets of Shakerism. Full of enthusiasm—full of fanaticism—withall, it breathes a little of the fire of native genius. This work, with the exception of a small sheet published in 1785, by Elder Joseph Meacham [JamesWhittaker], was THE FIRST by which the Society attempted to defend or promulgate its doctrines." — HASKETT, Shakerism Unmasked, p. 125.

12° Phila., R. Desilver, 1827
A very popular collection in its day, and for many years, as its sixth edition attests,—yet now so scarce that its title escaped Mr. Sabin.. It includes humorous poems by American writers, Freneau, Humphreys, Hopkinson, Ladd, etc.

EXTREMELY RARE. A reprint of the first (New Haven) edition, of the same year, which contained only four poems. I have seen no other copy. Neither this nor the two following editions were known to Mr. Sabin.

These volumes are among the curiosities of American literature. They were illustrated, put in type, printed (in small editions), and bound, by the author. The woodcuts are certainly remarkable, but it was scarcely kind in Mr. Sabin (Dictionary, iv. 477), to characterize them as "amusing for their absurdity."

6829 COOPER (Myles) Poems on several occasions, pp. xxxix, 342. 8° Oxford, W. Jackson, 1761

RARE and CURIOUS. The author—afterward the Rev. Dr. Myles Cooper, the successor of Dr. Johnson in the presidency of King's (Columbia) College, New York, and who was driven from the college and the country by the patriots in 1775—published this volume of poems the year after he received his degree at Oxford. "It is not likely"—as Mr. Duyckinck observes—"that he brought many copies of his Poems over for the use of the students and the eyes of sober Dr. Johnson of Connecticut... The taste of the age allowed publications then to gentlemen which the more delicate standard of the present day would reject."

Very rare. For the full title, see Sabin's Dictionary, no. 27586. After invoking the Muses, the author addresses

"—You bright sons of Harvard, where the Nine
And Great Apollo consecrate their Shrine,
For Wisdom fam'd, the rude Attempt excuse;
Accept an Off'ring from an Infant Muse,
That in Advent'rous Numbers, first would Sing
The Fam'd Nassau, the Great, the Warlike King."

The general tone and spirit of the poem seem to indicate that the author was a native of England, not yet thoroughly at home in the land of his adoption: and I am strongly inclined to attribute it to Francis Knapp of Watertown, Mass.,—son of a captain in the British navy,—a graduate of St. John's college, Oxford, whose poetical address "to Mr. Pope, on his Windsor Forest," dated June 7, 1715, "announce a man of wit and taste." For what is known of Mr. Knapp and his writings, see Duyckinck, i. 72.

Of the three editions of The Fall of British Tyranny, one (Providence) was unknown to Mr. Sabin, and I do not find it named in any catalogue. THOMAS (Hist. of Printing, ii. 79) says that John Douglass McDougall "printed in Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, 1775, and probably before that time, . . . and had, previously . . worked in the printing house of Sarah Goddard and Company at Providence." It appears that he afterwards returned to Providence, and was located "on the West Side of the Great Bridge."

Covent Garden: written by Mariana Starke: (with an Epilogue "written in America".) Phila., E. Story, n. d. [1791?] — The Haunted Tower, a comic Opera; by Mr. Cobb: as performed by the old American Company. Phila., 1794. 8 Plays, in 2 vols. 12°

"Slaves in Algiers" was Mrs. Rowson's "first dramatic effort;" and at its performance she played the leading part, Olivia.

In "New Spain," first performed at the Haymarket, July 16, 1790, the part of Alkmonoak (sic), played by Mr. Bannister, includes the song (p. 53) which subsequently became so popular in England and in this country, as "The Indian's Deathsong" or "Alknomook:"

"The sun sets in night and the stars shun the day,
But glory remains when their lights fade away," etc.

This song was very generally attributed to Philip Freneau, and was printed as his in Carey's American Museum, in 1787. Chambers—and afterwards Duyckinck (Cycl. Am. Lit., i. 341)—showed that it was included in the collected poems of Mrs. John Hunter, published in 1806. Who wrote this play of "New Spain"? Was the part of "Alkmonoak" conceived for and fitted to the "Death Song"—or was the song written for the part?

The epilogue to "The Widow of Malabar" was composed, jointly, by Col. David Humphreys and John Trumbull ("McFingal"),—the latter contributing 36 of the 78 lines; not by Trumbull solely, as Dunlap and Duyckinck have stated. This translation of the play (by Miss Starke) was substituted for the one by Humphreys which was played in Philadelphia in 1790, and for which the epilogue was written.

7052 The Irish Chief; or Patriot King: by F. Dobbs. 8° Phila., R. Bell, 1777 — The Real and Genuine School for Scandal, a Comedy; by Brinsley Sheridan. 8° Phila., R. Bell, 1782 — The Highland Reel: a comic Opera; by J. O'Keefe: as performed in London, and by the Old American Company, in New York, (with the cast, including Mrs. Hallam and Mr. and Mrs. Hodgkinson.) N. Y., 1794 — The Jew: or, Benevolent Hebrew; by Cumberland: as performed at the New Theatre, Philadelphia (with the cast), uncut, fresh copy. Phila., 1795 — The Stranger: transl. from Kotzebue (by A. S—k), uncut, but a name cut out of the title leaf. New York, 1799 — The Review; or the Wags of Windsor; by G. Colman: as performed at the N. Y. Theatre, uncut. New York, D. Longworth, 1804. 6 Plays. v. s.

The title of the "Real and Genuine" School for Scandal is explained by the fact that the title and the dramatis personæ of the play had been borrowed for a political satire, which was reprinted in Philadelphia in 1779 (see No. 7046). Sheridan's play was first performed, May 8, 1777: and, according to (Bohn's) Lowndes, was "first printed, Dublin, 1785," which was three years after Bell's edition was published.

That dance and song o'er patriot zeal prevail;
That whigs and tories (join'd by wayward chance)
Should hand in hand, lead on the sprightly dance," etc.
Sabin's Dictionary (no. 51110) gives a (skeleton) key to the dramatis personæ.

7183 — A New Gift for Children: containing Delightful and Entertaining Stories.. Fourth Edition, adorn'd with cuts, pp. 34, upper corners stained, uncut. 12° Boston, Fowle & Draper, 1762

Perhaps the RAREST of this collection of "juveniles." The illustrations include likenesses (?) of George the Third, and Queen Charlotte; a view of "Louisbourg demolish'd," which had previously adorned the title-pages of Almanacs; and several very remarkable original cuts.

7184 — The Famous Tommy Thumb's Little Story-Book; containing His Life and Surprising Adventures. To which are added Tommy Thumb's Fables, with Morals, and, at the end, pretty stories, that may be sung or told. Adorned with many curious Pictures, pp. 32, used. sm. 16° [Boston, John Boyle,] at the Printing Office in Marlborough Street, 1771

VERY RARE. The "pretty stories at the end" are some of those which pass for "Mother Goose's,"—"There was a man of Thessaly," "Three children sliding on the ice," "When I was a little boy," etc. The cuts are more than curious; particularly, the full-page frontispiece.

7185 — [Mother Goose's Melody; or Sonnets for the Cradle. In Two Parts. Part 1st, contains the most celebrated Songs and Lullabies of the old British Nurses, calculated to amuse Children and to excite (sic) them to Sleep. Part 2d, those of that sweet Songster and Nurse of Wit and Humour, Master William Shakespeare. Embellished with Cuts, and illustrated with Notes and Maxims, Historical, Philosophical, and Critical,] pp. 94, many wood-cuts, wants title. 32° [Worcester, Is. Thomas, 1786]

An EXTREMELY RARE and highly interesting little volume. Unfortunately, it has lost the title-leaf. In other respect it is in good condition. The title, as above, appears on the last leaf, in a list of books for children published by Isaiah Thomas, and it is found in a similar list at the end of "Goody Two Shoes," and others of the series, printed in 1786 and 1787.

It was doubtless a reprint of an English edition. I can hardly believe that it has escaped the bibliographers— and especially, the bibliographers of SHAKSPERIANA,—yet I have not succeeded in finding any mention of "Mother Goose's Melody. Part II. Containing the Lullabies of Shakespear" which—has a separate (half) title, at p. 75.

There is a "Preface, by a very Great Writer of very Little Books," on the origin of nursery rhymes, etc., with a page of music, the "March composed by King Henry the Fifth," to which—as the "great writer" asserts—the French adapted the words, "There was an old woman toss'd in a blanket," etc. The notes of the editor, and his (pretended) extracts from learned authors, are very well done. "Patch on Prudence," "Winslow's View of Bath," "Boyle," "Wickliffe," "Bentley on the Sublime and Beautiful," are among the commentators cited. Was the English edition Newbery's—and was the editor and annotator Oliver Goldsmith?

"How shall my Muse in proper Lines express
Our Northern Armies' Valour and Success?
While I am writing, comes the joyful News
Which cheers my Heart; anew inspires my Muse.
Our three brave Armies at Montreal meet,
A Conquest of New-France they there compleat.
To GOD we owe the Triumphs of the Day;

It commenced in 1793, with 3,000 copies; at the 40th year of its publication it had increased to 110,000, at which time the author informed the writer that the supply in no one year had been equal to the demand, and probably a half million of copies have of late been annually sold."—M., in Boston Daily Transcript, Nov., 1865.

NEW YORK, PENNSYLVANIA, VIRGINIA.

The First New York Almanac.

7389 [An Almanack for 1697. By John Clapp,] wants title and last leaf; had when complete, 26 leaves, in fours (A–E, f, g); a few lines torn from the top of the 25th leaf; uncut.

8° [New York, William Bradford, 1697]

EXCESSIVELY RARE. The First Almanac printed in New York. Its editor and publisher, John Clapp, kept a house of entertainment "about two mile without the City of New-York, at the place called the Bowry," which was "generally the bating place, where Gentlemen take leave of their Friends going so long a Journey" as from New York to Boston, in "a parting glass or two of generous Wine." Against the 24th of June, in the calendar, he gives notice that "in commemoration of the feast of St. John Baptist (& to keep up a happy union & lasting friendship, by the sweet harmony of good society) a feast is held by the Johns of this City, at John Clapp's in the Bowry, where any Gentleman whose christian name is John may find a hearty wellcome to joyn in consort with his Namesakes."

In the "Epistle Dedicatory" to Governor Fletcher, Clapp says:—

"Being animated hereunto by some hints received from your Excellency, who wondering that no Person in this Province did undertake to write an Almanack every Year, but must be beholden to a stranger for one, This, I say (may it please your Excellency) put me upon the work, and to run the venture of those many Censures that attends the Press in matters of this or the like nature."

"To the Kind Reader," he repeats, that "having little else to do, and finding this whole Province beholding to a stranger for a New Almanack every year" he "did resolve to set himself upon the Work," etc.

Opposite each page of the calendar, is a page of "Observations" on the month, in verse. Remarks on Eclipses, with "a short discourse of those two glorious Bodies, the Sun and Moon," occupy ten pages,—followed by a Table of the Kings of England, and a rhymed chronology, in five pages. More interesting are "a Chronological Account of the Domestic Occurrences, from the first settlement of this Province," and tables of the "several Stages & Post-Roads from the City of New-York to Boston," and from New York to Philadelphia, with the houses of entertainment.

A notice of this Almanac, with copies of the dedicatory epistle, provincial chronology, etc., was communicated to Valentine's Manual for 1853, by "E. B. C.," to whom a copy—evidently the same copy here described—had been loaned by an antiquarian friend.

7390 (Gaine's) New-York Pocket Almanack, for 1761; by Thomas Moore, Philo.; 1764, 1767, 1768, 1772, 1775, 1788, 1792, 1793, 1796–99, and 1 dupl.; by Richard (and Thomas) Moore. New York, Hugh Gaine — Ming's U. Twelve of the Almanacs are in their original Dutch lackered paper or marbled covers. Twelve are interleaved, and contain local and personal memoranda, shipping news, &c. by New York merchants, and others. The Almanac for 1772, has some leaves injured by cutting, but contains, uninjured, the rare "PROSPECT OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK." The Almanac for 1799 contains a few entries of marriages and births in the Brevoort, Goelet, and Hicks families.

To every one who is not a professed theologian, this is the most interesting work of its author. Among the Questions that Mr. Stoddard essayed to answer are these: "Wherein doth the oppression of the Country principally consist?" "Is it lawful for Men to set their Dwelling Houses at such a distance from the place of Publick Worship, that they and their families cannot well attend it?" "Is not the depreciating the Bills of Publick Credit matter of Provocation?" "Is it Lawfull to wear Long Hair?"—to which is annexed the reverend author's "Thoughts concerning Periwigs"—"At what time of [Saturday] Evening does the Sabbath begin?" "Hooped Petticoats" are denounced, in the final paragraph, as "plainly contrary to the Light of Nature." (See Tracts, No. 7838).

Six VERY RARE Tracts. The "Plea for the Ministers" is not in the catalogue of the Prince or the Mass. Hist. Society's library. In the Am. Antiq. Society's Catalogue of Ante-Revol. Publications, in Sibley's Harvard Graduates (I. 458), and in Sabin's Dictionary (no. 46717) its authorship is wrongly ascribed to Increase Mather—whose "Discourse concerning the Maintenance due to those who preach the Gospel," published the same year, is directly opposed to the views of the anonymous author of "A Plea." Neither Angier's "Spiritual Anatomizing" nor the 2d edition of J. Webb's "Young Man's Duty" is in the Mass. Hist. Society's or the Prince Library Catalogue, and the latter is not found in Haven's (Am. Antiq. Society's) Catalogue. The first edition of Bridge's "Jethro's Advice" is, also, of great rarity.

Boston, James Franklin*, 1722 — [COLMAN (BENJ.)] SOME REASONS for Setting up Markets in Boston, imperfect. Boston, 1719. Nine VERY RARE tracts, in one volume, old calf, with the autograph of Timothy Green, the printer of Boston and New London. 16°

The tract on "Hoop Petticoats" deserves special notice. The object of the writer was evidently to cast ridicule on the reverend divines who made a "case of conscience" of the prevailing fashion and particularly on the Rev. Solomon Stoddard who in his "Answer to some Case of Conscience" printed June 25th, 1722 (see No. 7815) had arraigned "HOODED Petticoats," as "contrary to the Light of Nature" and having "something of Nakedness." These two objections are urged and enforced by satirical argument and citations of texts of scripture, by the author of this squib printed by Franklin—which is as well-done, of its kind, as Defoe's "Shortest Way with the Dissenters." It may have been the work of some member of that "Hell Fire Club" of free-thinkers whose essays, contributed to Franklin's "New England Courant," led to his imprisonment and to the prohibition by the General Court of his further publication of that newspaper. (See THOMAS, Hist. of Printing, I. 215, 218.) Or was it one the "short essays" which young Benjamin Franklin began about this time, "privately, to compose"?

This tract of 1722 is not mentioned in Haven's (Am. Antiq. Soc.) Catalogue nor in Sabin's Dictionary, but the former has the title under 1726, and the latter gives the same date, in brackets. It was advertised as "first published and sold by the Printer," in the Courant, April, 1726: see DRAKE'S Hist. of Boston, p. 583, note.

Autograph of "Rich. Checkley, 1722, ex dono Sam'l Checkley." This Discourse is not named in the list of Rev. Nathaniel Vincent's works given by Anthony Wood and Calamy. The preface "to the Reader" seems to have been written by the hearer who took the short-hand notes, and was evidently written in Boston. It describes Mr. Vincent's "Meeting-Place" as "much resembling the old South in Boston." It is signed (in large capitals) "B. F." Why not Benjamin Franklin, the elder, (uncle of James and Benjamin) who came from London to Boston about 1715?

"Oldys' British Librarian is a work of no common occurrence, or mean value.... Mr. Brinley's is one of the "amply margined" copies that sometimes pass for large paper. It has the title-pages of the six numbers (Jan. to June, 1737,) in which the work was originally published.

From the library of Richard Ford (author of the Hand-book for Spain, etc.) whose autograph is on the title page of Rich's Catalogue, "given him by Mr. Rich, the Author." On the half-title of Ternaux' Catalogue Mr. Ford has left this note: "Mons^r Ternaux, a respectable imitator of Cashmere shawls, has borrowed all that is worth knowing in this rechauffé from Mr. Rich's work, the eminent and well known collector of rare Spanish typography."

It is needless to re-affirm here the judgment pronounced by American librarians and bibliographers, on Mr. Sabin's work—a monument, not less enduring because unfinished, to his large knowledge, his conscientious research, his general accuracy, and his untiring energy. None can assent more heartily than the present writer to the opinion expressed by Mr. Justin Winsor, that "its imperfections are inseparable from such a work," while "its merits are positive, and no one can deal with the titles of Americana, as I have to a considerable degree for years, without knowing the help it can afford, which is always opportune and often great."
